Wisconsin Dells Fun Facts

- "Wisconsin" comes from a Winnebago Indian word meaning "dark rushing waters," while "Dells" is derived from the French word "dalles" meaning "flat, layered rock." Thus, the literal meaning of the name Wisconsin Dells is "where the dark rushing waters meet at the flat, layered rock."
- Wisconsin Dells is home to America's largest outdoor waterpark, Wisconsin's largest indoor waterpark and America's largest indoor/outdoor combination waterpark. There are over 200 waterslides including the longest and fastest indoor watercoasters in the world.
- A single candy kitchen can produce up to 500 pounds of fudge each day. With more than 10 fudge/candy shops in Wisconsin Dells, over 400,000 pounds of fudge is made each summer (equivalent to 4,500 pounds per day).
- Wisconsin Dells has been a tourist destination for over 150 years. Visitors first came to the area by train to see the scenic sandstone bluffs along the Wisconsin River by rowboat as early as 1856.
- Though Wisconsin Dells hosts close to 3.1 million visitors annually, the Wisconsin Dells area (composed of the City of Wisconsin Dells and the Village of Lake Delton) is just over 19.5 square miles in size.
- Wisconsin Dells is 188 miles northwest of Chicago, IL; 230 miles southeast of Minneapolis, MN; 116 miles northwest of Milwaukee, WI; and 55 miles north of Madison, WI.
